The Adventure Continues

The Adventure Continues each morning as students rise from bed. They try to catch the bus, but it passed them by. Panicing, they call their friend for a ride, but there's no room. So taking their parents car seemed like a good idea, however it breaks down on Route 2. Finally getting to school, they notice the graffiti on the building from the night before. By now they realize, "Oh no, my 8th tardy."

But, adventures can also be positive. We won the Homecoming game and also tied for conference champs. The girls cross country team was also conference champs and made it to regionals. In addition, boys cross country made it to semi-state. There were the usual romantic dances, laced with the hustle of daily rigors and gossip, striving for the day of graduation when... The Adventure Continues

Student Life

How could a student say their adventure continued throughout high school? For most, their adventure continued by getting up in the morning. Whenever they continued their adventure, maybe it was after school going home and vegging out and watching some almighty television programs. Some could have done their homework, instead of doing it right before the bell rang or as the teacher goes over it in class (not that that ever happens). Or maybe it was racing out of the parking lot, burning rubber with their bass turned all the way up. Most found a way to get involved.

Adventures lurk around every corner, creep up and pounce when least expected. Some adventures are small and happen everyday, while some come only once in a lifetime. But one thing always proves true, adventures don't happen by kicking back and waiting for the parade.

"I've met alot of new and different people. I've learned to deal with people calmly. Now work is stressful at times but the people I work with make it fun." Lisa Seitzinger said. "My greatest adventure was just making it to the end," said Courtney Keith. "It's interesting that cliques don't exist anymore. I'm friends with everybody. I think becoming more mature is an adventure." said Renee Bruce.

Some also went on there adventure by going down to the gym and pinning there best friend to the mat in Wrestling, or learning to kill the ball the best way, for Volleyball. While some people, learned to be the best actor they could be in Arsenic & Old Lace, or they learned to waltz for Cinderella. Besides that, others joined the Ecology Club and marched for the earth, nevertheless others joined Academic Decathlon and went all the way to state.

~Kathy Smederovac

"One of my friends accidentally caught my hair on fire during lunch last year."

~Tracy La Reau

Senior, Angie Lorenz, performs her Junior Miss talent routine, which was a cute skit about a little girl wanting to be a basketball player. Angie was a part of the volleyball, basketball, and tennis teams.

Kevin Quale and Nathan Thomas strut their stuff during the parade. Both were active in basketball.

Dawn Bultema, Kim Collins and Jenny Echterling stand proud during the parade. All of them were part of R.O.T.C.

Jamie Kersey, Sara Shepherd, Jessica Bryant, Erin Cronin, Milka Micic, and Dana Warn wave proudly. They wait anxiously to board their float as part of Junior Miss. The girls did a wonderful job as participants. Kathy Alheit was the winner.

Craig Burke, Christina Mogan, and Julie Yeoman take a breather during the Labor Day Parade. It was a hot day for the over-dressed students.

Quotable Quotes

“The best part of Jr. Miss was how everything pulled together and how everyone somehow bonded.”

~Kathy Smederovac

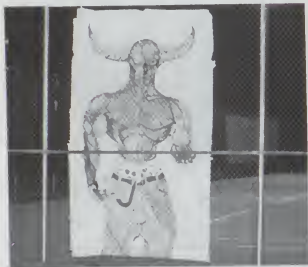

Dana Warn sang for her talent portion of the contest. Dana is also active in Acapella Choir.

Homecoming Game

A picture of the devil hangs on the fence outside the gates of the game. The devil is everyone's favorite mascot.

Homecoming king and queen Matt Pernick and Nicole Kosanovich walk across the field. Both were very happy to be chosen as king and queen.

The devils work hard to win the homecoming game against North Judson. Their hard work paid off and they left with another victory. The team was very excited when they won. We wish the football team continued success.

Sophomore cheerleaders Nikki Pulley and Mandi Clinton hold the sign the cheerleaders made for the game. Within a few seconds the excitement will begin as the players enter the field.

Student council members Carrie Hampton and Toni Rosenthal hang up the sign they made for homecoming game. They made the sign out of paper cups and had lights in them so they lit up. All their hard work really got people to get in the spirit of the game.

Betsy Flores rips it up on the dance floor. This is her freshman year at Lowell High School.

Jackie Williams, Danielle Cuiper, and Mandi Clinton strut their stuff while doing the Macarena. This is their first Homecoming dance at LHS.

Charles Engblom and Delanne Blain share the spotlight as they get close on the dance floor. This will be a night to remember.

(Right) Nick Holley and Courtney Morrow make their way down the field for Homecoming Court. Although it was a cold evening they were excited to be there.

Homecoming Dance Boogie Down

"I had a really great time. My date and friends made it a lot funner."

-Jamie Anderson

"Dustin and I had a lot of fun together. It was a time to remember."

-Shannon Earley

"It was fun getting down with my friends. I really cut it up."

-Josh Stiener

"The D.J. could of been better, but for the most part I had a great time."

-Nikki Maltby

Kelly Steller stands to take a break from all the excitement of the dance. Kelly and her date both had a great time.

Sweet Success

After a long, arduous election campaign President Bill Clinton and Vice President Al Gore both celebrate their hard fought victory. The Democratic team campaigned on a “four more years” platform that featured a strong economy and a lower crime rate.

Michael Johnson won an unprecedented double win in the Summer Olympics in Atlanta by winning both the 200 and 400 meter race.

Hyped as the most popular British band since the Beatles, Oasis is a million-selling rock band that is about to begin work on its third album.

Alanis Morissette seems to have talent that has no limit. Her debut album, "Jagged Little Pill", attracted considerable attention. Morissette delivers the deeply lyrics with a dramatic voice and a dynamic rhythm.

Three years ago Jewel was a fledging singer-songwriter living on carrots and peanut butter sandwiches. Her debut of bittersweet folk songs, "Pieces of You", just went platinum.

Trials and Tribulations

A deadly explosion disrupts the Olympic Games. As the giddy metropolis of Atlanta was overflowing with tourists, a black-powdered pipe bomb exploded, killing two people and injuring one hundred more. No one was charged with the crime as of yet.

At the age of 73, the former senator, Bob Dole (pictured with Jack Kemp), from Kansas would be one of the oldest men to run for the presidency. Although he lost the election, Dole was not disheartened, shown by his recent appearance on Saturday Night Live.

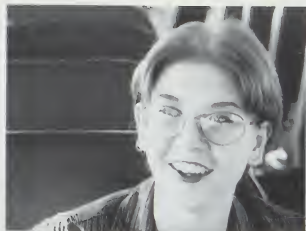

Months after TWA Flight 800 exploded in midair in the summer of 1996, investigators were still searching for a cause. All 230 people on board were killed.

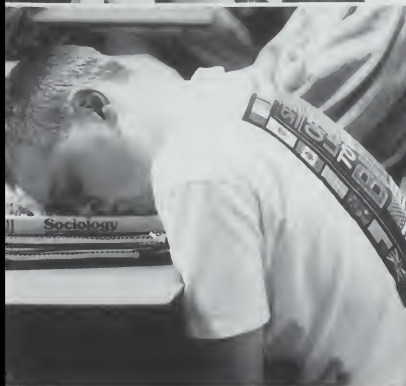

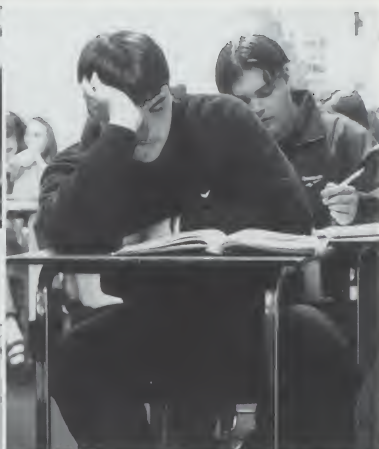

Great Britain's lease on Hong Kong was set to expire on July 1, 1997 and the Chinese were poised to reclaim the island. After one hundred years of British rule, British jurisdiction over Hong Kong will end and it will become a Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China

The stock market surged to record highs as the school year began. The Dow Jones industrial average soared in late September, and closed over 6,000 in October. The spark that kept the markets moving upward was news that suggested the economy was slowing down, thus keeping interest rates low.

18 Adventurous Days

Aunt Abby (Vanessa Hughes) and Aunt Martha (Erica Pickart) grow sleepy in the show. Erica had this to say, "Arsenic, strychnine and a pinch of cynaide. My favorite recipe for guests! Doing the play was the experience that made my senior year! I had so much fun and met so many new friends."

Jake Davis, Jason Hejnowski, Erica Pickart, Vanessa Hughes, and Jeffrey Hughes stand in a comossion during the show. The show was about two love birds that get married and deal with their crazy aunts.

Mortimere Brewster (Jake Mucha), Abby and Martha Brewster (Vanessa Hughes and Erica Pickart) chat about his plans at the Brewster's home.

Vanessa Hughes, Jake Mucha, Jason Hejnowski, Jake Davis argue before the aunts funeral for "their gentlemen".

Arsenic & Old Lace

Add Some Drama

"This was an exciting experience, this being my first lead role and at first, I hated it ,but it turned out to be really good."

~Jake Mucha

"It was a unique experience and I'm glad to have the opportunity to work with a wonderful director like Ms Wright , and to share the stage with such talented actors and actresses I hope I get to work with them again in the future."

~Beth Ann Hinkle

"I laughed, I cried, and I literally hurled because I was sick during the show. I enjoyed working with everybody. I salute anyone that has the drive to work in theatre."

~ Jason Hejnowski

Beth Ann Hinkle and Jake Mucha converse during the show. This is Jake's third year in theatre.

Stepsisters, Joy (Angie Simpson) and Portia (Miranda Zink) ask the question why would a fellow want a girl like her in the "Stepsisters Lament".

Sophomores, Jeff Hughes (The Prince) and Jackie Vaandrager (Cinderella) sing how great it feels being in love. This is both of their first leads in a high school show.

All of the townspeople dance "The Gavotte" at the beginning of Act II. They danced this dance to win the prince's heart. The Prince is located in the upper left hand corner next to Kathy Smederovac. Some of the townspeople also were soloists all throughout the show.

Sophomore, Janet Raandazzo sings to her majesty of the wonderful things that they will be serving at the ball. Janet was also one of the Student Directors of this production.

The Adventure Continues Through Sports

The stress of school work is hard enough for the ordinary student, but balancing school with a sport, and even a job, can be hectic. Most people can pull it off, but every once in a while there will be a student that just passes out due to all the stress. The hard work and stress payed off when the football team won the Northwest Hoosier Conference for the fourth consecutive year, or even when we sent six students down to semi-state for wrestling.

This year, however, wasn't all glory. The boys varsity basketball team, after an average season, lost to KV in the first round of the sectionals for the fourth consecutive year. "They hit their shots, we didn't. That's pretty much it," said boys varsity starter Jake Gasaway. The girls varsity basketball team, coming off a losing season, defeated Hebron in the first round, but then lost to KV in the sectional semi-finals. "We were up big at the half, but when we came out in the second half, I don't know what happened," said girls varsity starter Angel Vinson.

Also this year, individual awards were big. It was a great honor to Matt Pernick, as well as the school, when Matt was named "Mr. Football" for the state of Indiana. Girls cross-country runner Karen Nagel went to state and ran 32nd out of a field of 179. "I feel like I accomplished a lot because that's the first time I've ever been to state." Having another great year, varsity wrestler Jeremy Swisher went to Purdue University Calumet to compete in an Indiana/Illinois battle for Bragging Rights tournament. "I'm very proud of Jeremy," said Coach Line. "He represented the school and the area very well."

Whether your schedule is booked through the year 2000, or you sit around all day watching TV, go out and get involved in athletics. It's very rewarding in the end, even if you do ride the pine all year. There is just this feeling inside of you that lets you know that you did something special.

~Brian J. Trippe

Boys' Cross-Country

We're Good!

Junior Scott Reed uses his excellent stamina to put himself at the front of the 3.1 mile race. The harsh weather conditions did little to slow this runner down.

Boys' Cross-Country - (1) Coach Bob Thomas, Greg Curtis, Tom Howard, Craig Burke, Doug Curtis (2)- Josh Blink, Dustin Blink, Chris Hughes, Mike Hepner, Ryan Steuer, Buddy Bell, Scott Redd (3)- Kenny Bethke, Andy McQuiston, Stephen Anderson.

Senior Nick Dandurand begins to show signs of fatigue, but will not give in to it. It is this sort of will power that earned the team its slogan, "We're Good!"

Greg Curtis displays his acute fashion sense during school. There is always room for humor in cross country.

Freshmen Matt Ohare decreases the distance between himself and the finish line. Because of his exceptional agility, his teammates nicknamed him "Bucky".

The Adventure Continues Through Academics

From eight o'clock a.m. until three o'clock p.m. every student from freshmen to senior, their adventure continued in classrooms. The adventure of academics, though a sometimes boring one, started off with morning announcements, followed by Channel One and then the ever awaited homeroom class period.

It was sometimes hard for the adventure to continue through academics because of the ever changing temperature. But, everyone seemed to make it to classes, most of the time.

For freshmen and sophomores basics were the main route for academics. But as sophomores, became juniors, the horrid deadline of the ever awaited term paper was mandatory. But as one reached the top of the totem pole, as becoming seniors one reached the ease of only having to take English, Government and Economics and take for the most part whatever they wanted to do.

For most of the days of school the adventure came to a halt when the ever awaited bell at three o'clock p.m. bell rang and the load of students hustling out to the parking lot, out to the buses, or maybe to the practice of their choice.

The Adventure Continues Through Unerclassmen

Those whom were not classified as Seniors for the 1996-97 school year had the task of thinking and dreading, coming back for the adventure of another year at the big circle high school. On, the many hours of scheduling and coming up with what classes one would be taking next year. Whether or not one had to take more math or science, for that ever awaited diploma. Or if they needed to retake a class for their honors diploma.

But, the real questions came out something sort of like this. Would the juniors be able to handle being the top dogs? Would the sophomores be able to handle the adventures of taking PSATs, SATs, and ACTs and the move from one side of the school to the other?

But, the only adventure some found themselves going on was walking into school and not being called a freshmen with a horrible sound to the voice implying it. While some still just found themselves counting the days to that moment when they to could say good bye to this circle, unwindowed maze we call our high school, Lowell Senior High School.

The Adventure Continues Into the Real World

The class of 1997 had their adventure continue through elementary school, junior high and now, finally, one step from the almost real world, high school. Now, for some maybe their adventure will take the vivid turn to college. While some others may take the slide into some other type of training school. But others will also try and jump into the ring to fight the fight of finding some type of job that will actually pay them enough money to hack it in the real world.

For most though, well, they just sat back and enjoyed their senior year, and thought about how much they liked it when someone said, "So now you're a senior" and they had a thought to say, like Rizo said in the show "Grease," "It's our turn to rule the school." For others they just wanted to get out from under the thumbnail of all the authority figures such as, administration, parents, and just about anyone else who tried to control them for the past thirteen years.

Some students dreamed of college life, while others thought of marriage, and kids. While a few thought of the graduation parties and of other parties throughout the years. No matter what plans, or lacking of plans everyone hoped that they made the best ones, cause it was their first one that could make them either the success of their class or part of some ally wondering what went wrong.

Most will either be staying home and commuting to IUN or PUC or one of the many schools that one can commute to from Lowell and the surrounding towns. But others will end up in a dorm with, most likely someone they never met until freshmen orientation day. Some may join the work force, while others will just collect dust and stay home for a year to relax. But all will remember the homecoming dance, "Light My Fire" and their senior prom, "Hold On To The Night", Senior Bash, and last but not least, June 8, 1997, one of the last times that they will place their feet into the wonder ful maze in which they will always call their Alma Mater, Graduation Day.

~Kathy Smederovac

"During high school I have learned how to budget my time and handle alot of responsibilities for life and it prepared me for college."

~Lauren Jankovic

Downtown Lowell was decorated during the football season to support the team. This window "welcomes you to the inferno."

Senior Milka Micic shoots the ball up on the green to help add to the devils lead.
Milka has been an active athlete
in high school.

Seniors gather together in the agriculture room to pose for a quick photo. The last year for these students means responsible and enjoyment.

This window shows the support of the high school for the football players. This one reads "light my fire." (above)

Junior Miss winner Kathy Alheit does her part for the talent portion of the contest. This solo must have really touched the crowd and judges. (left)

Craig Burke leaves the gymnasium after the ceremony to meet his family and friends. Craig was seen afterwards talking with his family.

The seniors wait for the ceremony to end so they can leave to celebrate somewhere other than school. The school was empty in a matter of minutes after the ceremony.

The Adventure Continues Through Underclassmen

Those who were not classified as Seniors for the 1996-97 school year had the task of thinking and dreading, coming back for the adventure of another year at the big circular high school. Going through the many hours of scheduling and coming up with what classes one would be taking next year; thinking about having to take another math or science class. Thinking about which areas they needed to get their diploma, and wondering if they needed to retake a class for their honors diploma.

But, the real questions came out something sort of like this. Would the juniors be able to handle being the top dogs? Would the sophomores be able to handle the adventures of taking PSATs, SATs, and ACTs and the move from one side of the school to the other? Would the freshmen be able to find jobs and learn how to drive so they could come up with some adventures of their own?

Some of the major adventures that the underclassmen of '97 had were the answers of the last questions. Oh, the adventures that one would find themselves going through while going up to the office, because of picking on an oh so innocent freshman. While others found a new adventure behind the door of their new lockers, in the upperclassmen locker bay. But, the only adventure some found themselves going on was walking into school and not being called a freshman with a horrible sound to the voice implying it. While some still found themselves counting the days to that moment when they could say good bye to this circular, unwindowed maze we call our high school, Lowell Senior High School.

~Kathy Smederovac

"Sophomore year was great because I started driving a lot more than before I became a sophomore."

~Megan Bielifield

Junior Megan Miller takes a brief moment to pose while in her third period Ceramics class. Like her many underclassmen found themselves in various art classes.

Precision Control Systems serves as the authorized independent field office for the Environmental Controls Division of Siebe, PLC in central and northwestern Indiana.

Siebe manufactures both the Barber-Colman and Robertshaw lines of control systems. Using Siebe's diverse product line, our experienced teams design, install, and commission control systems for commercial and industrial structures.

These systems will accurately regulate the building's heating, ventilation, cooling, humidification, pressurization, and energy consumption.

Direct Digital Controls

At Precision we outfit control systems ranging from single heating/ventilation units to complex multi-structure campuses with direct digital controls from Siebe. Our micro-processor-based control systems demonstrate exceptional flexibility, extreme accuracy, and an effortless user interface. Precision's technical staff will use their experience and factory training to configure a system to be as simple or as complex as needed.

Hey Eric! What time is it?

Time to go!

Captured In A Moment

To the ladies, gentleman, and large woodland creatures of Lowell High School: We, the editors of the Lowellian staff would like to thank all the people who made "The Book" possible. And we have a short list...Kathy Smederovac, Brian Trippe, Bart Chahaskinville, Nicole Hummel, Stephanie Brown, Mandi St.Clair, Jamie Bostick, Becky Wunderink and Katie Bethke...I, Timothy J. Bean would like to take time to thank a few individual people for all their patience and hard work: Ms. Turnak, who's patience and effort know no bounds, Chris Shelhammer who's consistent ignorance made me realize what a good person I am, Annie Kouris, who's sense of humor and intelligence gave me a colorful contrast to the black-and-white of the everyday life (I thank you very much, Annie!!),

Now a few words from Chris... As the leader of this primitive colony of scavengers, I have learned many useful things. First, If something is yours,take it, and if someone else tries to take it, take necessary action. Second, If you want to save something, TAPE IT TO THE WALL!!! Third, and most important, if there is a lady that claims to be the teacher or instructor, do not believe her. ... These rules apply to all those who dare enter Ye Olde Yearbook Lab. Any bending, breaking, or twisting of these rules will lead to a severe punishment- maybe even having to do a spread. I would also like to thank Amie Martinez for helping to get me up all those early mornings in Italy. Goodbye and good luck to all the seniors. For my last and final comment on this otherwise useless page, all I can say is I love you all and.....Bye!!!! That is all I have to say.

Timothy J. Bean

Christopher Shelhammer

Vaguely, I can remember walking into this pink lab, that has no climate control whatsoever, and saying, "How am I going to ever learn to work on a mac computer or crop a picture?" It was all just an adventure of its own. But now I feel like I just about know everything Viola Booty would want a yearbook staff editor to know and much, much more. I will remember working with every staff member from this year for all of their sometimes corny but, real quirks. From Tim and his GQ giant style and great listening skills to Chris calling just about everyone for some reason or another a jerk. To both of them taking their ever so pleasant toilet shots, a sparkle of a smile will glide across my face when I hear one of their names and recall them asking, "Sass, can I see the Tempo section?" When I am told to remember any of the people I met on staff, these are a few of the things that come directly to mind. Stephanie and Nicole always remember "Crisco" and "Curtains." We know that these are our favorite people in the world. Katie, always remember to take attendance up, even though I don't think you can handle more than two cards at a time, and remember our memorable photo shoots. Jamie, when I hear the words Pearl and Jam in the same sentence, I will think of your face. I apologize to anyone I have yelled at, even though at the time I probably felt you deserved it. Now, finally, Ms. Turnak. Well its been a hectic three years, but I hope I wasn't the worst person to work with. I want to thank you for teaching me to learn to love journalism as much as I have learned to. Always remember me and keep the Sass alive. And to all of my cheesy egghead remarks and my wonderful aspirations, remember, I will one day be famous. Oh yes, I will.

Now, to future yearbook staffs. I will you a Pinto for every person on staff that says "I can't cover that photo assignment 'cause I can't get the car. I also will each and every one of you a Tempo section so that you can find out how your day is going to be without having to fight each other for it. I also will you a gap of time somewhere in the year between January and June so that you won't have to worry about wasting your summer at school. Last, but definately not least, I will new computers and cameras to the future staffs of yearbook .

Kathleen Marie Smederovac
